Committee Charge

Pursuant to Section 2-2-1901, C.R.S., the Legislative Interim Committee on School Finance was created to study issues related to school funding and to consider alternative school finance funding formulas during the 2017 and 2018 interims. The committee was authorized to meet up to five times each interim. Specific issues the committee is required to study and report on include:

- the costs and benefits of state and federal laws on school districts and public schools;
- the total amount of federal, state, and local funding available for public education in each school district, in aggregate, and per pupil;
- the relative value of and return on resource investment across the time frame of a student's education career;
- alternative methods for identifying at-risk students;
- allocation methods for per pupil, student-based school funding;
- allocation methods for district attribute-based school funding;
- replacing direct funding of categorical programs with a per pupil, eligibility- based allocation;
- transportation funding strategies;
- alternative methods for determining enrollment;
- school district organization;
- property taxation, equalized mill levies, calculating assessed values of property, and other local resources of education funding; and
- capital construction needs.

The committee was required to hire a contractor to assist in gathering and analyzing school finance data.

Committee Activities

During the 2017 interim, the committee held five meetings. During the 2018 interim, the committee held four meetings and two workshops. A majority of briefings and presentations were made by the vendors hired by the committee. The following sections discuss the committee's activities during the 2017 and 2018 interims. Committee activities included:

- presentations from committee contractors;
- discussion of school finance revenue and funding components;
- discussion of guiding principles and values; and
- school finance-related presentations by non-contractors.

Contractors

In September, 2017, the committee hired FourPoint Education Partners (FourPoint) as the vendor to support the committee's work. FourPoint led discussions at subsequent committee meetings covering a wide range of topics, including the ones specified in the committee's enacting legislation, and compiled and conveyed data related to those required discussion topics. In August, 2018, the committee ended its contract with FourPoint. The committee subsequently enlisted the company EdBuild to build and host a simulation model of the state's current school finance model.

School Finance Formula Revenue and Funding Components

The committee discussed the school finance formula currently in statute. Topics included pupil enrollment, identification of at-risk students, district personnel and non-personnel costs, district size, economies of scale, transportation of students, and capital construction. The majority of school finance topics were addressed by FourPoint in the 2017 interim and the first quarter of the 2018 interim.

In addition, FourPoint facilitated a committee discussion concerning state, local and federal sources of school funding, including per pupil revenue, mill levy overrides, and the impact of TABOR, the Gallagher Amendment, and Amendment 23 on school finance.

Simulation model. EdBuild built a simulation of the current school finance model, allowing legislators to adjust weights and alternatives for the formula components to see the impact of those changes on individual district funding, and on overall state funding.

Principles and Values

The committee discussed the principles and values important in a school funding formula. FourPoint facilitated the committee discussion, including how to frame the problem and prioritize objectives and goals. FourPoint presented the committee with nine principles for the committee to discuss and consider:

- align school finance and funding with contemporary education systems, goals, objectives and learning contexts;
- center allocations based on students and their characteristics;
- provide every student access to quality core learning;
- provide every student equitable opportunities to achieve;
- share investment in providing learning opportunities to children;
- make the school finance and funding system transparent and understandable to stakeholders;
- accurately finance and fund learning needs of students;
- maximize productivity and efficiency of learning resources; and
- locally control educational management methods.

In addition, the committee also considered data evaluating how well Colorado currently meets these proposed principles.

Related Presentations

The committee heard presentations on two topics related to school finance from people other than their hired contractor. First, the committee heard two presentations from a group of superintendents who proposed changes to the school finance formula during the 2018 legislative session. Those changes were presented in House Bill 18-1232, and include modifications to funded pupil count, student and district factors, total program funding calculations, and categorical funding. Second, Bret Ridgway, the Chief Business Officer at School District 49, presented to the committee on the issue of district equity based on size, geography, district characteristics, and the ability to generate local revenue. Mr. Ridgway also discussed the idea of an override incentive program to encourage districts to adopt mill levy overrides.

Summary of Recommendations

As a result of the committee's activities, the committee approved one bill to be introduced during the 2019 legislative session. The approved bill is described below.

Bill 1 – Extend School Finance Interim Committee

The bill reauthorizes and extends the committee for one additional year, through the 2019 interim. The bill also clarifies the composition of the committee and appointment procedures for its members, gives the committee flexibility to determine issues of study, allows the committee the option to contract with an outside vendor; and permits the committee to use any unspent and uncommitted appropriations from FY 2018-19 to pay for FY 2019-20 expenditures.

Resource Materials

Meeting summaries are prepared for each meeting of the committee and contain all handouts provided to the committee. The summaries of meetings and attachments are available at the Division of Archives, 1313 Sherman Street, Denver (303-866-2055). The listing below contains the dates of committee meetings and the topics discussed at those meetings. Meeting summaries are also available on our website at:
